Honorable Edwin J. Rousseau
President
Fort Wayne City Council
City Hall
Fort Wayne, Indiana

Dear Mr. Rousseau:

It is the opinion of the City Council Citizens Committee on transit that you proceed immediately with plans to have a technical study made of Fort Wayne's public transit problem. Because of the urgency of this matter, it is also our opinion that the cost of such a study should be borne by the City rather than through a grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The objectives of such a technical study would be to formulate a Transit Development Program and a system (or a series of alternatives) for carrying it out. The preparation and maintenance of a Transit Development Program is a prerequisite for any Federal capital grant or loan assistance. Such a program consists of two basic parts.

- a) A program for the unified or coordinated operation of the mass transportation system for the urban area, including but not limited to scheduling, routing, fare structures, and levels of service to the public. The program should indicate the way in which available transit facilities, and those to be provided under the transit improvement program, will be coordinated so as to provide maximum practicable service to the urban area.
- b) A transit improvement program for the urban area covering a 5 - 10 year development period. The transit improvement program should indicate the needed improvements in the mass transportation system for a 5 - 10 year development period; include a schedule of priorities, estimates of costs and recommended or anticipated means of financing; and describe the allocation of responsibilities for carrying out the program.

Our committee has interviewed representatives from Day and Zimmerman, Inc. and Simpson and Curtin, both of which are nationally known in the field of transit planning. Prior to our interviews, we checked with the Department of Housing and Urban Development and found both were acceptable to conduct such a study.

After reviewing proposals submitted at these interviews, it is our recommendation that the firm of Day & Zimmerman, Inc. be retained. I have attached a copy of their proposal which could be used as a basis for a contract with them. Day & Zimmerman propose to complete this study within an eight week period for the sum of $14,800.00. They would be available to commence work almost immediately. They would require temporary office accommodations for three or four members of their staff during their field work. Mr. George W. Heinle would be in charge of this project and would be on the job in Fort Wayne. Mr. Heinle attended our meeting along with John L. Gross, Jr., Day & Zimmerman's Director of Traffic and transportation studies.

If you have any questions regarding our recommendations, I would be most happy to discuss them with you or other members of the Council. If not, we will consider our committees responsibilities completed.

Thomas J. Peterson, Chairman
City Council Citizen's Committee on Transit
